Mission:

The Citizen Oversight Board (COB) was created in 2004 and consists of nine community members who are broadly tasked with:

- Assessing the effectiveness of the Office of the Independent Monitor (OIM);
- Appointing, by and with the consent of City Council, the head of the OIM and terminating their employment as appropriate;
- Making policy-level recommendations related to a broad range of issues related to public safety in Denver;
- Making recommendations related to the outcomes of specific disciplinary complaints and cases;
- Addressing any other issues of concern to the community, the Board, or city leaders.
