Mission:

The Landmarks Preservation Commission (LPC) is the largest municipal preservation agency in the nation. It is responsible for protecting New York City's architecturally, historically, and culturally significant buildings and sites by granting them landmark or historic district status and regulating them after designation.

The agency is comprised of a panel of 11 commissioners who are appointed by the mayor and supported by a staff of approximately 80 preservationists, researchers, architects, historians, attorneys, archaeologists, and administrative employees.

There are more than 38,000 landmark properties in New York City, most of which are in 157 historic districts and extensions in all five boroughs. The total number of protected sites also includes 1,464 individual landmarks, 124 interior landmarks, and 12 scenic landmarks.
