Mission:

The Phoenix Public Transit Department provides residents with a variety of transit options and services, which range from local and commuter buses to Dial-a-Ride service.

The City of Phoenix funds transit, and other transportation improvements, through Transportation 2050 (T2050) - a local sales tax approved by Phoenix voters in 2015 – as well as county and federal funds. T2050 allows for enhanced bus service, transit-related technology improvements, and fare media upgrades under the leadership of the Citizens Transportation Commission. You can track our progress via our interactive T2050 Annual Report.

Phoenix Public Transit is also the largest member of member of the Valley Metro / Regional Public Transportation Authority and participates in oversight of the METRO light rail system.
